Award-winning author of 9 books and NEA fellow
More than 30 years teaching writing and meditation*

During this weekend we will awaken our creative potential and explore our most authentic nature. This retreat is for women interested in meditation who want to experiment with or enhance the practice of writing in our lives. The retreat will be held in a container of silence, helping to still our busy minds, bring peace and relaxation, and allow inspiration to surface. We will alternate meditation with writing periods, and share our writing in small groups. (No experience necessary; no requirement to share.) And we will celebrate with ritual dance. <http://www.sandyboucher.info>
